THE CONDITION OF THE PIT-CAIRN ISLANDERS.

Interesting Report.
Among the Parliamentary Papers recently issued was one of an extremely interesting character in the shape of a Report forwarded to the Admiralty by Commander George F. S. Knowling, of His Majesty's ship Taurus, dated Honolulu, March 31, in which that officer gives an account of his visit to Pitcairn Island. Commander Knowling says:—

I arrived in Bounty Bay at five p.m. on February 21, 1891. A boat load of islanders (men) came off, but in view of there still being several cases of dengue fever in the ship, I only allowed Mr James R. Mc-Coy, the Chief Magistrate, on board. He reported all well in health, 120 people on the island; the adult females being rather in excess of the males. Arranged to land next day, and then proceeded to N.W. anchorage, where there was less swell.
Anchored there—losing an anchor, which was afterwards recovered—for the night, and landed at Bounty Bay the next morning. After this I communicated with the island each day, myself and a few officers landing, but by the surgeon's advice no islanders were allowed on board.
The swell continued more or less heavy in both anchorages, so we stood off and on, or lay to off the island during the remainder of our stay. Mr McCoy has only recently returned to the island, he having very quickly piloted a burning ship to Mangrove, boasting her there rather than agree to her captain running her, as he wished to do, on to the coast of Pitcairn. Supplies of the following things are abundant:—Poultry and goats, the latter the islanders will either shoot or drive in from the hills, and the young goats, of which we took a large number, are excellent; there are two herds of these each numbering about 100; cocoa nuts, bananas, pineapples, marsh and water melons, limes, oranges, pumpkins, coffee, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, Indian corn, and arrowroot.
A strong blow in August last, followed by what is described as a tidal wave, and which swept away a portion of the Boathouse in Bounty Bay, did much damage amongst the oranges, almost destroying this year's crop, and also blew down large numbers of banana trees. There is an abundance of water in Bounty's well, which is nearly in the centre of the island, fed from the high hills around, and which has not been known to run dry since the present inhabitants return from Norfolk Island. A watercourse leads the water from the well to a tank close above the village. There is another large well farther to the Westward, and there is generally plenty of water.
During the last four years 35 vessels on an average have called at the island each year, but the islanders generally seem to see very little of the crews of merchant vessels.
In most cases the master only of the vessels' lands for a short time, the ships scarcely ever anchoring. During his stay last month in Mangrove (Gambier Islands), Mr McCoy endeavoured to arrange something in the way of a regular trade between the two islands, and one of the vessels has since called at Pitcairn, taking away large quantities of bananas, pumpkins, and arrowroot. The leading men here think that they will be able to maintain this trade.
There is now a very fair road leading to the landing-place of N.W. anchorage. The adult males have to give all their labour during the early part of the day, viz.:—from after an early breakfast at five a.m. until two p.m.—to work for the public good, directed by the local Parliament of seven.
At the present time 29 men are available, and their labour is divided between building a new church adjoining the present school-room, a new whaler, and the necessary boat work, shooting of goats, &c.
Two p.m. is the dinner hour, and the remainder of the day the people employ themselves about their own business of gardening, &c. The women of the family do all the housework, and many of them smooth and paint cocoanuts, plant and decorate nut bags, &c. Disease appears to be still almost unknown. The typhoid of 1894 was brought here by a shipwrecked crew, and no other epidemic has touched the island since. The leading people prefer to continue, as hitherto, without medicines of any sort. One small boy has been recently killed by a fall while chasing goats on the cliffs. Thursday October Christian, son of the man of the same name, and grandson of Fletcher Christian, mister's mate of the Bounty, is the oldest man on the island, aged now 83; two other men are over 75, and the oldest woman is 73.
None of these old people suffer from anything beyond the weakness of old age, and all seem thoroughly contented and happy.

The early loss of the front teeth in the upper jaw continues amongst many of the islanders, but the teeth of numbers of adults, as well as of the children, are without a flaw. Some families, in which up to the present there has been practically no intermarriage, still suffer from this loss of teeth. No one smokes or uses intoxicating liquor. Men, women, and children seem, without exception, in robust health and full of vigor. Thanks to the care of the eldest Parliament—consisting of seven members, with Mr McCoy as President—this employment is found for everyone. The disappearance of the Albatross has been lamented, and the day's work of the islanders is now a great deal less than it was some years ago.

on more than one occasion, myself and the ship's company. Their religion remains that of the Seventh Day Adventists. The Saturday services are well conducted, and the strong religious feeling which was once so marked a characteristic of the islanders appears—after the check it received some few years ago—to have again gathered strength. To Mr McCoy's firmness and tact, ably seconded by the six other elected members of the Parliament, I consider is due the general improvement which must have taken place in the island since the date of the Republic's visit. It was common talk, during our recent visit to both Honolulu and Tahiti, that the islanders were rapidly deteriorating in morals and physique, a condition of things which my officers and myself—after the best opportunities of judging—believe does not hold good at this time; and, on the other hand, looking to the present flourishing state of the island and its people, it is difficult to understand how reports to their detriment can have got abroad. Mr McCoy had been away for some months before the earliest cases which preceded the Republic's visit, and he admits that he found on his return much that needed improvement. A strong hand is naturally required at the head of this unique community, and fortunately Mr McCoy is likely to be at the front for many years to come. The names of the present seven members of the local Parliament are as follows:—Mr James R.
McCoy (President), Mr Charles Vieder Young (Judge), Mr Benjamin Stanley Young (Judge), Mr Gerard Bromley Christian, Mr Ernest Hayward Christian, Mr Moses Young, and Mr George Francis Warren (Secretary). The principal difficulties which the near future may bring to the island are I think, three, viz.:—(1) The absence amongst the men of early middle age of a fitting successor to Mr McCoy. (2) The surplus of females in the present and rising generation, a difficulty naturally accentuated in a small and secluded community. Any arrangement which would include the removal and care of some of these youthful females—of whom some of the grown up ones would now willingly leave—would be a work of useful philanthropy. (3) The tendency growing amongst the islanders to make use of a sort of language of their own, which I am told is a clipping of English words, and which is, at the best, a species of pidgin English.
This shows signs already of making some of them appear slow of comprehension when addressed in English. Much rain has fallen on the island of late, but only one day during our stay was wet. The wind blew generally from the N.E., with little strength, but bringing a long swell and often a confused sea into both anchorages, making landing at N.W. anchorage impracticable, and in Bounty Bay only possible under an islander's pilotage. The current at the anchorage was generally westerly, and at times reached a strength of 4 knots.
During the visit of the Taurus, and it what may, I think, prove to be a somewhat critical stage of their existence, I found the leading islanders always grateful for any recognition of their recent improvements, and for advice as to their future conduct, and I feel sure that such recognition and advice from the higher authorities would strengthen their hands, and be of much value to the whole community.

Don't know over this page without reading this short tale about a working chap. A chap "seem-with a kind of history ticked on to him for life.

His name is Mr Frank Leach, of Nagasaki Coastguard, Chills Ewell, Market Draiton, and his name is 27. That's about the time, I reckon, that a chap ought to be playing football for his county. He related the facts on December 12th, 1890.
"I had always been the most temperate of men," he said, "but when I was 27, for some reason, something like an ordinary meal began to disturb me. Gradually the pain, like a weight on my chest, and between the shoulders and the stomach, got so bad that I had to throw up work."
What a chap want to be throwing up work for, when he's got a working chap. A chap "seem-

A Lonely Existence.

To some men life in the bush is the most perfect existence, says a special correspondent of the Daily Telegraph. It is open and free, spent in the pure country air; the work at times is hard, and the actual life rough, but it carries few cares or responsibilities. The pay is good or bad according to the standard with which it is compared. To that of an English farm labourer it is sumptuous; to a labourer in Sydney it would offer little inducement to go up-country, except he had a liking for the life. On this station the ordinary hands receive £40 a year and a double ration equivalent to another £14; it is to be wondered that labour is being driven into the big cities, where benevolent Ministers of Public Works offer a minimum wage of seven shillings a day? But the bushmen are a fine race. Wiry and tough as nails, with sturdy, loosely-jointed frames, able to sit on any kind of a horse, never walking a yard if they can ride, they display an intelligence and readiness of resource, which are at times amazing. Now and then the work is hard and rough—a man may have to ride twenty miles to get to the scene of his day's labour; at times there is not much to be done save ride round the paddocks and see that the wire fences are in good repair. The tending of a large flock is most trying duty. It is a silent, solitary job. The man will see no one for weeks, save the pal who brings him his 'tucker' at stated intervals. Consequently, powers of conversation get rusty, and at all times these are men of few words. The following stories exemplify his mood of silence and disinclination to talk:—Two 'cockies' or small farmers, had adjoining properties. One morning No. 1 rides up to where No. 2 is digging a patch, and the following conversation ensued:—'Morning!' says No. 1. 'Morning!' says No. 2. 'What did you give him for grapes?' 'Keweenaw,' says No. 2. Conversation ends. Next morning No. 2 is still digging at the same patch. Up comes No. 1, who says, 'Morning!' 'Morning!' says the other. 'Say, remarks No. 1, 'I give my horse kerosene, and he died.' 'So did mine,' draws the other; and the two part. Another story is even a better illustration. Two men, Bill and Jim, were out looking after sheep. One morning, at breakfast, previous to going off to work, Bill says to his mate, 'Say, Jim, there is a cow down in the gully. I heard it holler.' Nothing more was said till evening, when, on the way back to the camp, Jim says: 'How did you know it was a cow, Bill?—it might have been a bull.' No further remarks pass, but next morning Jim finds Bill doing up his pack, and preparing for his departure. 'Say, Bill, what are you doing?' 'I'm off,' says Bill; 'there's too much blooming argy-bargy in this camp for me.'

Cassell's Publications for September.

The opening pages of The Quiver present to the reader a highly interesting narrative of mission and medical work among seamen. The article, which is entitled 'Christ on the Waters,' is from the facile pen of Mr D. L. Woolmer, author of 'The Child Wives and Widows of India,' etc., and is illustrated by photographs. 'Me and Her' is a very readable Cockney story, 'Enery' and 'Zeppy' being the two chief characters. The serial 'The Curate of Coxfield' reaches its fourteenth chapter and still maintains its hold on the reader. The same remark applies to 'Into a Far Country' which has reached chapter eighteen. A series of short stories by Mr A. E. Wickham will be much enjoyed by the casual reader. Miss Evelyn Mitford deals with 'Some Celebrated Women Hymn Writers.' Among the 'Short Arrows' at the end of the number is a page of local interest. It is from Miss Lee, of the Church of England Zenana Missionary Society, Foochow, and details the origin and progress of the missionary school for Chinese girls established there. Little Folks is full of stories and pictures of absorbing interest for the children. Work, the mechanic's journal, contains a host of technicalities which cannot fail to attract the artisan. The number is accompanied by a double-page coloured plate showing the details of distillation apparatus. Cassell's Saturday Journal is a periodical which is too well known to require any sounding of its praises.

A smile is an adornment to the countenance; but the fixed smile is liable to become shop-worn.

DID HER BOY GOOD.

My boy has been growing too fast one way, and not enough the other, I didn't know what to do, until I heard of Stearns' Wine of Cod Liver Oil. I have bought him two bottles. He eats much more than he ever did, and he doesn't look like the same boy.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

On more than one occasion lately, we have called the attention of our readers to the grave possibilities of trouble that exist all the time in connection with the prosecution of mission work. The most recent outrage at Hsing-ning is only another example. No blame is attached to the missionaries, who seem to have acted with great prudence and courage. The people among whom they lived, and that must include many who are not converts, were or appeared to be friendly disposed. And yet we are told that the houses of the missionaries have been looted and afterwards burned to the ground. The explanation offered in our Canton Notes may not be entirely right, but it has an air of probability, and it must be remembered that the story was not told to fit the case, but that it is the report of an eye-witness given several months ago. In the absence of positive information, it would not be fair to assume that the missionaries had any part or lot in the petition to the mandarins against the Triads. But assuming their complete innocence if anyone or any number of men have, in connection with the mission, used the name of the church to give weight to the petition to the magistrate which had the result of restraining the would-be rebels for the time being, then it is easy to see where the resentment comes in, and the consequent revenge. If it turns out, as it may probably do, that the name of the mission or names of converts were used without consent, it would still have been too much to expect the Triads to make such fine distinctions. In the inquiry which ought to be conducted on the spot, all these points ought to be thoroughly thrashed out, and if any member of the gentry has been guilty of involving the mission in a very severe punishment ought to be meted out to him.

Another point that we wish to lay stress on is the dilatoriness of the officials. This outrage did not come suddenly, but no preparations appear to have been taken to prevent it. If adequate measures had been adopted, the trouble might easily have been avoided. The mandarin who fails in such a marked way to do his duty is in some respects more worthy of punishment than the men actually concerned in the riot. We shall watch with no small interest the steps the Germans take to settle this case.

As we have taken a leading part in the agitation for a school for European children resident in Hongkong, and have helped to keep alive that agitation when, from various causes, it may have shown signs of dying out, we cannot refrain from expressing the gratification we feel over the fact that His Excellency Sir Henry Blake has become a convert and recognises the claims of the European children. In the Blue Book for 1900, His Excellency says:—'No satisfactory provision for the Education of European children exists in Hongkong. Whilst European parents prefer to have their sons and daughters educated at home, a preference dictated by climatic and other reasons, there are not a few Europeans now in the Colony who are unable to afford to send their children to Europe. It would seem only just that educational facilities which are at present wanting should be afforded for such children.' In saying this (for although the Blue Book is signed by Mr. Stewart Lockhart, we prefer to regard it as having the Governor's sanction), His Excellency brings himself into line with Sir William Robinson and General Black, both cordial supporters of the establishment of a purely European school at Kowloon, and we can only hope that Sir Henry Blake will realise the hopes of the European parents and that he may be the first to inaugurate such a very necessary local institution. As His Excellency says, there is growing up a class of Europeans in Hongkong who are not able to send their children to Europe to be educated, and since no satisfactory provision exists for them at present these children are more or less neglected and are losing ground that they can never recover, and the inevitable effect will be to handicap them in after life. In pressing for the establishment of purely European schools, we hope His Excellency has represented strongly to the Colonial Office how impossible it is to give European children a training befitting their requirements in a school of mixed nationalities. It is something gained that the Governor of the Colony should write as he has done, and it is now the duty of the Unofficial Members of the Legislative Council, when the education vote comes up in the consideration of the Estimates, to give united and strong support to His Excellency's remarks. The Kowloon School is nearing completion, and should be ready for use in a few months. This should become the European School for Kowloon. One thing the Unofficial Members ought to press for, viz., a properly-qualified Inspector of Schools. This is too important a position to become a temporary refuge for unemployed cadets.

When is a start to be made with the new Clock Tower at Blake Pier?

Parcel Mails for Europe &amp;c., per R.R. Pal van will close at 3 p.m., on Friday, the 11th inst.

The Hongkong Fire Brigade turned out sixty-one times in 1900. There were 51 fires and 74 incipient fires during the year.

The rainfall last year was 73.73 inches, as compared with 72.7 in 1899. The wettest month was June, and the driest, September.

A carpenter residing at No. 9, Holly-wood Road, was killed yesterday by falling a distance of 30 feet. He was working at the time on Hon. E. R. Bellios' new house in Macdonnell Road.

Capt. H. N. Schofield, Royal Field Artillery, who was awarded the D.S.O. for saving two of the guns at Colenso, has now received the Victoria Cross, and his appointment to the D.S.O. is therefore revoked.

To swell the falling Penang Band Fund, a concert and a dance have been arranged for. The band costs $10,800 a year, including $5,000 from the Municipality. The balance comes from subscriptions which are now falling off.

The Cressy, first class cruiser, which, on the eve of her departure for the China Station, was found to have sustained serious damage to her steering gear, was undocked at Portsmouth on the 30th August after completion of repairs. She was under orders to sail, but the date of her departure for the China Station had not yet been announced.

New Public Rickshaws for Hongkong.

To-day, at the compound of the Central Police Station, Inspector Ford inspected somewhere about 150 rickshaws and double the number of cabbies. Forty of the rickshaws comprised the first instalment of the 300 new and improved vehicles which it is proposed to license for hire in the streets of Hongkong. Ngan Wing Chi, head cabbie man at the Kowloon Godowns, at Tsimsoo Sugar Refinery, also licensee of the 140 public rickshaws at Kowloon, has been granted the licenses for the 300 new rickshaws and has procured 600 sturdy runners from Chuchau-fa—two men being allowed for each ricksha. The men are to be lodged by him in houses specially constructed for the purpose and approved by the authorities. It is also intended that the rickshaws will be housed on the ground floors at night time, thus keeping them clear and free from the various abuses to which the present public rickshaws are subjected during the night. The new ricksha is a much improved article as compared with the old one. They have been imported from Japan, 100 having arrived already and the other 200 following. They are nicely 'japanized', in black, and have the appearance of an up-to-date private ricksha. They are very roomy, both as regards length of foot-rest and width of seat; they are fitted with good springs and have low wheels, rendering them less liable to capsize than the present green rickshas. The number does not show on the sides, but is affixed to the back on a plate, and on the foot-rest in front. They look rather dainty for the work they will have to do, and the only fear is that they won't last long enough to pay the contractor. There is no difference in the fare. Would it not be wise to make the new rickshas solely for the use of Europeans? Even though the fare were slightly raised, such a move would doubtless meet with general approval. The forty new machines licensed to-day are already on the streets.

To Subscribers.

In order to expedite the work of distributing this newspaper to subscribers throughout the Colony, we are re-arranging the Districts of our delivery coolies. If any irregularity occurs in delivery, we hope subscribers will notify us at once. The change will be introduced in the various districts in the course of the present month.

The Military Contribution.

The total strength of troops in the Hongkong garrison on the 30th June, 1900, was 2,116 as compared with 3,098 in the previous year. There were in addition 81 British women with 159 British children, and 82 Asiatic women with 139 Asiatic children on the strength. The reduction in the number of the troops in the Colony at the mid-year is explained by the absence of a large number on service with the China Expeditionary Force in the North. A Census taken in January, 1901, there were 6,501 officers and men with 2,139 camp followers resident in the Colony, making a total of 7,640. The Colony contributed $501,789.78 (17 1/2 per cent. of its revenue) in aid of Military Expenditure in Hong Kong, besides $24,800.00 for Defence Works, making a total of $526,589.78. There was no expenditure towards Barracks Service during the year. The total establishment of the Volunteer Corps was 366 of all ranks as against 339 in 1899. The expenditure of this Corps, which is borne entirely by the Colony, was $39,096.33 for the year. The European Police, 153 in number, and the Indian Police, 366 in number, are a Constabulary Force, being armed with Martini-Enfield carbines.

Marriage at Foochow.

The Foochow Echo of the 28th September reports:—The British Episcopal Church was the scene, on Saturday, the 21st inst., of the very pretty wedding of Miss Laura Moorehead, eldest daughter of Mr. Theodore Moorehead, of the Imperial Maritime Customs at Foochow, with Mr. W. H. Wallace, Acting Agent of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, son of the late Alexander Wallace, Esq., M.D., of Colchester. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The service, at which large numbers were present, was choral, and was performed by the Rev. L. Lloyd. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore white crepe de chine, trimmed with cream lace and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of tube-roses and maiden-hair fern. She was attended by two bridesmaids, the Misses Alice and Margaret Moorehead, her sisters, whose gowns were of white glaze silk, trimmed with white tulle, butter lace and bobé ribbon, their white hats being composed of white feathers and tulle and their bouquets of salmon hibiscus and maiden-hair fern. Mr. W. A. R. Knight performed the duties of best man. An 'At Home' was held by Mrs. Moorehead after the ceremony, at which a great number of friends were present. The bride's travelling dress was composed of gray silk crepe with white Maltese lace and insertion, and was worn with a white chip hat trimmed with pink and white tulle, and clusters of hydrangea blossoms in their different shades. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace left for their new home amid all good wishes and the usual showers of rice and white satin slippers. The wedding presents were very numerous and handsome.

A Reliable Tonic of Remarkable

Nutritive and Strengthening Properties.

Consumption is curable in its early stages, and later in the disease much suffering may be averted by the employment of this remedy. Essentially, Consumption is a disease of nutrition, as is shown in the rapid loss of flesh and disturbance of the digestion, loss of appetite, etc. Nutrition suffers first and most. Sustain nutrition in the first stage of the disease and the latter will be cured. Handred will testify to this truth.

Sicoma's Wine of Cod Liver Oil is an ideal restorative and tissue-builder, a cell-tonic unequalled. Under its influence, the digestive functions perform their best action.

The maximum quota of nutriment is obtained from the food. The body is so fortified that it can withstand the progress of disease. Disease is checked in its course, and so in an early stage a cure is produced.

At yesterday's meeting of the Sanitary Board, Dr. Atkinson, the President, pursuant to notice, moved that the Board recommend the Government to obtain, as early a date as possible, a successor to the Colonial Veterinary Surgeon, whose service expires on the 2nd proximo. Mr. Chatham seconded, and the motion was agreed to.

C. P. R. Scrip.

The Standard of the 2nd ult. reports:—Miss Marie Josephine Eastwick, supposed to be an American, was, on Saturday, arrested at the Palace Hotel, Tuxton, on the charge of having endeavored to obtain £4000 from a London stockbroker, on a share certificate in the Canadian Pacific Railway, which, it is stated, had been altered from £150 to £24,000. Miss Eastwick was brought to London to answer the charge at the Guildhall to-day.

Lester Reiff.

Lester Reiff, the American jockey who has been warned off the course by the Racing Stewards in England, stood third on the list of winning jockeys on the 2nd ult., and his brother Johnny Reiff fourth. The list was headed by O. Madden with 497 mounts and 91 wins; S. Lottes was second with 353 mounts and 67 wins; L. Reiff 285 mounts, 65 wins; J. Reiff 325 mounts, 62 wins. It will be remembered that Ted Sloan, the pioneer of the present batch of American jockeys in England, was not licensed this year by the Stewards.

The Nuisance at Bellios Public School.

At yesterday's meeting of the Sanitary Board, correspondence was laid on the table relative to the Gough Street latrine. This latrine is situated underneath the playground of Bellios Public School, the officials of which have lately complained of unpleasant smells. In view of this, Dr. Clark intimated a recommendation that the excavation under the playground be considerably extended in area and then converted into a public bath-house, with accommodation for about forty baths. Mr. Brown intimated:—'If the nuisance caused by the gases is at times unbearable, that caused by the smoke will no doubt be very great.' Dr. Clark moved according to the terms of his minutes. The motion was seconded by Dr. Atkinson, and carried.

Prevention of Spitting in Public Places.

At the meeting of the Sanitary Board yesterday, Dr. Atkinson, the President, explained that his object in drawing the attention of the Government to the question of stopping as far as possible the practice of spitting in public places was to make clear the extent to which phthisis really does exist in this Colony. The annual death-rate for phthisis in this Colony is 3.1 per 1,000 living, against 1.40 per 1,000 in England, another proof of the overcrowded and insanitary way in which the Chinese live. It was a well-known fact that consumption was spread by indiscriminate spitting; the sputum from a consumptive patient is loaded with tubercle bacilli, and when the sputum dries the bacilli are disseminated in the air, and are the main cause of the spread of pulmonary tuberculosis; and it was to a certain extent to minimise the danger that he recommended the notices to be printed and posted in prominent places so that all could read.

Why don't you get up and read some of it?' Tax best way to contract debts is to pay
